AMUNDSEN TELLS TRIP'S HARDSHIP

DECLARES FLIGHT WORSE THAN SOUTH POLE VOYAGE

EXPLORERS SUFFERED FROM SEVERE CLIMATE

Abandon Goods to the Value of $4,000 to Insure Safe Return of Single Plane—MacMillan Expedition Off for the Arctic.

Oslo, Norway.—The south pole expedition trials were nothing compared to his three weeks spent on the fields of the arctic during his attempted airplane dash to the pole, Captain Roald Amundsen, leader of the polar flying expedition which returned to safety June 19, asserted.

Captain Amundsen said he did not think it possible there could be such suffering, and his only wish was that no other humans would have to undergo the trial to which his party had to submit. Captain Amundsen appears to have suffered more than the others, his face bearing deep lines. Lincoln Ellsworth, the Chicagoan, member of the expedition, on the other hand, showed no trace of fatigue.

The explorers state that all would have been lost had not the flyers been together. When the little party started on the homeward trip all knew it was life or death for each.

The single airplane was piloted by Hjalmar Riiser-Larsen, with Leif Detrichen navigating. The party flew toward Verlegen Hook, where the Spitzbergen mountains were sighted.

A fault in the stabilizing rudder, however, resulted in the wind blowing the ship to the north of the cape. Just twenty-eight hours before the same spot was patroled by the Hobby. The flyers were preparing their meal when they discovered the cutter which saved them.

While Captain Amundsen and Ellsworth remained at King's bay, the other flyers returned to Franklin bay aboard the cruiser Heimdal with oil enough to fly their machine to King's bay. In their flight of more than six hundred miles the explorers took a great number of photographs, which showed the terrible trials they were forced to undergo before they could start on the homeward flight.

The explorers left goods and instruments valued at $4,000. Captain Amundsen feared it would weigh the machine down too much to carry them. Before the start was made a letter was left in the oil tank of the abandoned plane telling of their flight for home.

Monegan Island, Maine.—The MacMillan arctic expedition is steaming up the coast of Maine on the first leg of its long voyage into the north, which will take it to Sydney, N. S.

Donald B. MacMillan set sail from this little island outpost at noon Sunday aboard the Bowdoin, after a last informal leave taking with close friends and relatives of the expedition's leader and his men, who sailed this far aboard the ship, the Peary.

GOVERNOR MAY BE WITNESS IN VALLEY BANK FRAUD

San Francisco.—That Governor Richardson may be called to the witness stand in the Fresno Valley bank conspiracy suit to give information he is believed to have concerning the sale last year of that $12,000,000 institution, appears likely, since minority stockholders of the bank are aroused by the governor's charges of "crooks and rascals" in his statement exonerating State Superintendent of Banks John F. Johnson of misconduct in the Valley Bank deal, and may insist that a subpoena be served on him.

David E. Mitchell has been appointed chief deputy superintendent in the state banking department to succeed Sigmund J. Janas, ousted when charges of misuse of state funds were preferred against him.

Bus Drivers in Slow Strike

Paris.—The "slow strike" is the latest novelty in labor demonstrations. Auto bus drivers and conductors, through their union, have decided to retaliate for the discharge of several agitators by the companies by performing their duties exactly but slowly. As a result Paris auto buses creep, while conductors take as long as possible issuing tickets.

Sixth San Quentin Killing

San Francisco.—For the sixth time this year murder has been committed in the state prison at San Quentin. Previous killings have been largely the result of race feeling, and a quarrel between two negro cellmates, lasting over two days, culminated in the fatal stabbing of George Bentsford. William Keating is in solitary confinement, charged with the murder.

$300,000,000 TAX CUT AIM OF PLAN

GREATER ECONOMY DRIVE IS INAUGURATED AT CAPITOL

PRESIDENT FORECASTS OTHER BIG REDUCTIONS

Public Debt Reduced Three Billions in Four Years—Coolidge Tells Bureau Chiefs to Scale Down Taxpayers' Bills.

Washington.—President Coolidge has officially announced the possibility of an immediate reduction in income taxes of $300,000,000 or more, on the basis of economies already effected and called for a further reduction in the cost of government, which will make possible still further tax lowering.

He estimated the surplus for this fiscal year at $200,000,000 and for the next fiscal year at $290,000,000, and said he would recommend to congress a reduction in taxes.

This news was contained in a 25-minute talk which Coolidge made to several hundred department and bureau chiefs.

While the government administrators must do all that is possible to cut down the cost of government, the biggest economies that could be effected lie with the people, Coolidge said, referring to the encroachment of the federal government upon local self-government resulting in "a double burden of taxation"—federal taxes for donations to the states and state taxes "to meet the extravagance of state expenditures which are tempted by the federal donations."

The streak of Yankee thrift in the Coolidge personality loomed large throughout the meeting between the president and Budget Director Lord on the one side and the subordinates who must be relied upon for efficient and economical administration of the government on the other side.

Coolidge, reading from a carefully prepared address, loaded with the ciphering of government bookkeepers, counted up how much had been saved in the cost of administration since the war ended, how much is being saved now, how much he is determined there shall be saved next year and how much more he contemplates reducing expenses the year after that.

Coolidge put it squarely up to the bureau chiefs to cut out waste wherever it appears and scale down the cost to the taxpayers.

It is not economy for economy's sake that he is demanding, he said. What he is after is a greater efficiency in government "by the application of the principles of constructive economy" in order that the tax burden of the people may be reduced. Cutting down government expenditures is only the means to the end, which is tax reduction.

Total public expenditures in this fiscal year, ending June 30 next, are $3,035,000,000, compared with $5,116,000,000 in 1921, while the public debt has been reduced from $23,977,000,000 to $20,551,000,000. That retrenchment, the president pronounced unparalleled in history. It has made it possible to lighten the tax burden materially already and yet it cannot be said that taxes have ceased to be a burden.

The orderly funding and rapid retirement of our war debt was dwelt on. He pointed out that we are now paying $130,000,000 less interest than four years ago, and of this amount $30,000,000 is due to the lower interest rates we now pay on borrowings, as the result of improving our credit. Pretty "good pay for a sound policy," Mr. Coolidge dryly remarked of that $30,000,000.

The Kansas-Oklahoma State Society will hold its annual picnic Saturday afternoon and evening, June 27th, at Alum Rock Park. All are to bring basket lunches which will be served early in the evening. Coffee will be furnished by the Society. The committees in charge are planning a splendid time for all. All former residents of Kansas or Oklahoma and their friends are cordially invited.

The Rev. F. C. Farr officiated at two weddings in Campbell last week. On June 14, Carl F. Storz, a native of Russia, and Ruth F. Campbell, of Woodland, a sister of Mrs. Frank Hall, of this city, were united in marriage.

On June 19, Mrs. Carrie Kennedy, sister of Mrs. Lawrence Miller, became the bride of Chas. V. Lamb, of Orange Cove, Cal.

ALL'S READY FOR BIG EVENT

Feeling that he should be free to go any place at anytime during the Pageant on Friday and Saturday night, Marshal Baird has given to the boys of the American Legion, who have always so ably parked the cars, the complete charge of the traffic around the ground as well as parking and policing. This will be under the supervision of Raymond Hicks. The marshal asks that each one, give these boys co-operation these two nights by doing without question whatever they ask.

Marshal Baird will maintain a central station at his office in the Town Hall with some one there to answer the phone. Whatever is wanted of any of the officers on these nights of the Pageant phone 53.

At Los Gatos under the same old oaks of 100 years, ago, with the same blue sky and in the natural amphitheatre in the heart of the town, will be enacted on Friday and Saturday, June 26th and 27th, the gay scenes of the early thirties of California.

Two hundred citizens of the Gem City are rehearsing now, and will depict in this gigantic spectacle all the hospitable Spanish home life, the joys and tragedies, loves and hates of those splendid days of the long ago when California was still swayed by the pomp and glory of Spanish royalty.

Wilbur Hall, author and director has written a story, "La Favorita de Los Gatos," which is a sequel to last June's pageant, but is crammed full from beginning to end with thrills and picturesque scenes. The costumes and settings will be truly Spanish and ill aid materially in transporting the vast throng of spectators into that happy atmosphere of the time in which the play is written.

Amongst those interested and nationally known are the colony of writers about Los Gatos. Dr. Charles E. Richards, Charles G. and Mrs. Kathleen Norris, Ruth Comfort Mitchell (who in private life is the wife of Senator Sanborn Young,) Helen Waldo Trine, and Ruth Radford Hall. The whole town from bankers to delivery boys and ministers to dancing girls, near centenarians to school children, are in it heart and soul and assure its success.

The whole town will take the aspect of old Spanish days of early California, and everywhere will be seen dashing senoritas garbed in gay colors and old Spanish combs, caballeros, buckeroos, and Mexican priests. The music will be played by an orchestra of old Spanish stringed instruments under the direction of Austin Soper. An orchestra of twenty pieces have been rehearsing thrice a week on early authentic Spanish music taken from the private musical library of Charles E. Lummis, the greatest living authority on California pre-gringo period music.

Mrs. W. E. Johnson and Miss Kittie Johnson left Sunday for Delano, Minnesota. They were joined at Oakland by Mr. Johnson who had come directly from San Diego. They accompanied the remains of Mrs. Christine Johnson for whom services were held and interment made in Delano Wednesday. Miss Johnson will later continue her journey east and visit for some time at Schenectady, N. Y.

The dance recital given Monday evening at the Scottish Rite Temple, by the pupils of Mrs. Vaudine Putnam Sanders was a beautiful exhibition of the arts and graces acquired by the tiny tots as well as by older pupils. The large room was filled with an appreciative audience, who have been most enthusiastic in their praises of the work of the pupils and the training given them by their teacher.

Miss Joyce Robson and her mother arrived Saturday from Lancaster where Miss Joyce had completed a successful year of teaching. She had the misfortune to have some valuable baggage destroyed in the S. P. depot fire at Bakersfield.

RECORD CLASS AT CAMPBELL

The auditorium of the grammar school was filled Thursday evening with relatives and friends gathered to witness the graduation exercises of the class of 1925, in which there were forty-five members.

The class flower, sweet peas, and the colors, orchid and green, were attractively used in the decorations in a bank of greenery and lavender sweet peas in front of the foot lights, and on a background of ferns the letters of the class motto, "Strive and Succeed" stood out in bold relief.

The program was opened with a march by the band and then the class filed in, up the two aisles and took their places. They made a delightful picture, the girls all in uniform costumes of white skirts and middies with sailor ties of black. Those participating in the program and the class teacher, Miss Mace, were also seated on the platform.

The invocation was given by Rev. Geo. L. Marsh, followed by Mary Maxon, whose address of welcome was very well given.

A piano duet by Marie Satariano and Josephine Campisi, was well received as was also a piano solo by Virginia Lenox.

Mr. R. A. Hansen, of Livermore, where Mr. Abbott was before coming to Campbell, sang a solo and graciously responded to repeated encores.

The address, although he rather deprecated the use of that term, was made by Mr. Joseph Hancock. He spoke in compliment of the community and school that had turned out such a graduating class, and stressed the fact that the best possible investment that could be made for the safety and welfare of the country was in schools for the education of the young people. He urged the graduates to get all the education possible and to carry with them into high school and future life their motto.

The gift of the class to the school was presented by Louise Freitas and accepted by Frank Ferro. It was a very fine reed table with wood top, palm and jardiniere, for stage use and decoration.

The presentation of diplomas was made by Mr. I. R. Abbott followed by the class song, accompanied by Miss Mace. Rev. F. C. Farr pronounced the benediction and the exercises closed with more music by the band.

Mrs. Ralston Alison and Miss Lucile, Mrs. M. E. Kennedy and son went over to Seabright Friday, occupying the Morton cottage. The husbands joined them Saturday. Miss Alison came home for the grammar school graduation and remained for a few days but has returnedd to Stanford where she is attending

CAMPBELL HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATED A MOST REMARKABLE CLASS

Campbell Union High School graduated a class of thirty-two, seventeen boys and fifteen girls in the army of 40,000 high school graduates of the state this month.

Probably no class of the school history has had more talented members in widely different lines and so, Principal D. H. Cramer remarked, "With so many talented members of the class it was hard to chose who should have part in the program.

To the tune of a march played by Prof. Josef Halamicek, the class came down the two aisles in couples taking their places on the stage.

The invocation was given by the Rev. Geo. L. Marsh, acting pastor of the Congregational church which was followed by an overture "Poet and Peasant" by the high school orchestra under the able direction of Professor Halamicek.

The class sang "Hail, the Flag" by Hudspeth-Trutner, led by Mr. Halamicek, accompanied by Miriam Blaine at the piano.

Dr. W. W. Kemp, dean of the school of Education of U. C., and former president of San Jose Teachers College, was the speaker of the evening. In his introductory remarks Dr. Kemp complimented the Campbell Union Grammar school district very highly on "its wonderful forward step in erecting one of the finest schools of its kind in the United States and Campbell will always draw a fine type of people by its fine institutions." He gave a resume of the growth of high schools under the public schools system which originated in the Massachusetts colony. The high school has grown to such prominence that today California pays a greater proportion of the educational expense of high school students than any other state in the union, and other states are studying California laws with a view to working out similar laws for high school financial support.

With now over four hundred high schools in the state the state is paying almost two thirds of the expense and none of this money is paid by the local taxpayers. Dr. Kemp urged that the public stand by the present law providing for state aid of high school which has proven so great a boost to the school system. He urged upon the class their continuance in studies as far as possible and impressed upon them their responsibility to society and the state for the benefits already derived thru their schooling.

Antone Bonaccorso, one of the popular singer-actors of the class, sang in his sweet tenor "Love Came Calling," accompanied by Patrice Smith who followed with the Lizst "Hungarian Rhapsody" a very difficult memory piece. Both were roundly applauded and graciously responded with encores.

Dr. A. B. Townsend, clerk of the school board, with a few appropriate remarks, presented the class with their earnestly worked for diplomas.

Miss Olive Hanger a sweet singer, artistic actor and talented pianist of the class, sang Helmund's "Maiden Song" and responded with a very pretty encore.

Rev. F. C. Farr pronounced the benediction.

Quantities of boquets and baskets of flowers were banked at the front of the platform, the gifts of a host of well wishing friends and relatives.

OLIVER-GRIZZLE

Miss Jeanette Oliver and Claud Grizzle, surprised their friends by going to Hollister last Friday, June 12th, where they were united in marriage by the Rev. W. H. Lloyd. They returned to Campbell and secured rooms for a few days at the Hoerler Apartments, and have since purchased the Elmer Maas house on Alice avenue, formerly the R. A. Holmes property.

Mrs. Grizzle is the daughter of Mrs. Lester Wilson, of Union Avenue, and the groom is a son of W. C. Grizzle, and is well known here where he has lived for many years.

The Press unites with their friends in extending felicitations.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Purmort with Mr. and Mrs. J. Shumaker and son, of Ohio, who have been their guests for several weeks, left by auto for the southern part of the state, where they will enjoy the sights for a time. Miss Marie has returned to the San Jose Hospital where she is training to be a nurse.

Once upon a time there was no Good Bread in Good Town

That's not easy to believe, so many families now depend upon it at every meal, but nevertheless it's so. We decided to give Campbell a wonderful loaf of bread, a loaf made from the purest of ingredients the women of a town would select themselves.

Then we tested and finally evolved a perfect formula for perfect bread. And the result was Peter Pan Bread.

Your grocer, too, saw that you would enjoy this loaf and gladly agreed to recommend it to you. He sells plenty of it now, for Campbell's connoisseurs, say, "It's good!"

Ask him for PETER PAN Bread.

WHAT IS A BUSINESS?

Is a newspaper the type and press? Is a bank the counters, vault, or even the money? Is a grocery store the canned goods, vegetables, rice, sugar and flour? Decidedly "no." The material parts of a business institution stand stark as a ship's rigging in a calm port without the personality, the service, the good will and reputation behind it. The goods are like the body, indispensable enough, but the intelligence—the mind or soul—of the business is the management behind it.

Great men have spoken the truth of this. We call to mind such quotations as, "an institution is but the lengthened shadow of one man," and Shakespeare's "the purest treasure mortal times afford is spotless reputation." Elbert Hubbard said, "One great soul in every community could actually redeem the world," to which we are inspired to add that "One corking good, upright, honorable outspoken, untiring, go-getting fellow in every business could put the kibosh on failure."

What we think of a business we think of the men or women who conduct it; that is, we think of their ability or lack of it to render service to the community through the channel of their chosen business or profession. This is ample proof that a "business" is not alone the machinery, the helves, the building or the goods. Every business has its intangible values,—its soul as well as its body, its mind as well as its matter—without which it truly "has no business" calling itself a business.

Yes, you have the right to send your trading dollars out of town. You also have the right to throw away your best shirt. Trading at home isn't a question of "rights"; it's a question of sound economic policy coupled with community loyalty that smacks pretty close to moral duty.

Oil-Cookstove Work —is "City Easy" and Cool!

WORKING with a good oil cookstove is cool work and a "snap"—no fires to tend,—nothing but a match to light, a wick to turn and you're done! Noiseless, simple, safe!

By using a good oil cookstove you make your kitchen-work as simple and "city easy" as it should be! And when your dealer recommends Pearl Oil as the best kerosene to use—he's right! Pearl Oil is specially refined and re-refined so it burns clean! And it won't corrode metal—no oily smell—nothing but bright heat-producing flame.

"Kerosene" or "Coal Oil" may mean any kind of kerosene—so insist on pure, clean-burning "Pearl Oil"—ask for it by name!

SWEEPSTAKES

OF THE LOS ANGELES-YOSEMITE ECONOMY RUN

WON with ZEROLENE

The Los Angeles-Yosemite Economy Run of May 22-23—the ranking stock car event of its kind in the United States, gave motordom new official mileage records to vie for—and another impressive victory for Zerolene!

The Rollin, lubricated with Zerolene, carried off the sweepstakes—winning the award for the highest efficiency and gasoline economy established in the run. Piloted by Joe Bozzani, the Rollin's gasoline economy record for the 360 mile run from Los Angeles into the Sierras to Camp Curry was 27.43 miles per gallon of gasoline.

When Zerolene brings in the Sweepstakes Winner of the most competitive motoring event of the year—when it is the choice of more motorists in the Pacific Coast states than any other oil made—won't it pay you to use Zerolene—a better oil even if it does cost less?
